

MEXICO STATEMENT

Mexico welcomes the Bank's strong focus on development impact and supports the approval of the Strategic and Capital Framework. We consider it essential to reflect greater ambition in the Bank's crosscutting priorities—climate action, green finance, and gender equality—within the new Scorecard and in relevant country and sector strategies. This must be done in full alignment with international commitments, particularly the Paris Agreement.

We emphasize the importance of fostering sound economic governance in both public and private sector clients, and of promoting robust policy dialogue as a key enabler of high-impact, long-term investments. The pursuit of volume targets must not come at the expense of quality and sustainability. Mexico encourages the Bank to continue enhancing operational efficiency and to ensure full adherence to environmental, social, and governance (ESG) standards, especially in critical supply chains. We also highlight the importance of increasing private capital mobilisation.

We support the Bank's strategic focus on regions and countries where it can be most impactful and welcome its geographical expansion. In this context, deepening partnerships and coordination with other multilateral development banks (MDBs) will be crucial to maximise impact and ensure efficient use of resources across all countries of operations.

Mexico sees the ongoing implementation of the Capital Adequacy Framework (CAF) recommendations as a key step to increase lending capacity while preserving financial sustainability and the Bank's high credit rating. We also encourage the development and promotion of innovative financial instruments, including hybrid capital and portfolio guarantee mechanisms, to expand the financial toolkit available to MDBs.

Finally, we underline the importance of optimising the use of concessional resources and call for reforms that foster stronger cooperation and strategic alignment among MDBs. This includes incentivising joint efforts in the development and deployment of innovative financial instruments that can address shared global challenges more effectively.

In conclusion, Mexico looks forward to continuing its constructive engagement with the Bank as it pursues its strategic objectives in support of sustainable development, private sector mobilisation, and impactful operations across its regions.
