

EBRD Literature Prize 2023

Submissions

European (including UK) publishers with a valid ISBN and the price printed in the currency of a European country are invited to submit translated works of literary fiction (including collections of short stories by a single author) originally written in any language, whether official or minority, of a country where the EBRD currently invests.

To be considered for the competition, books must have been published in English and published in UK and Europe, for the first time, between 15 November 2021 - 14 November 2022.

The deadline for submission for this year's competition is 30 November 2022.
