

CHAPTER 8

The description of the difficulties

---

Dealing with difficulty at the stage of implementation of impact studies, such as limitations on access to certain zones, unable to carry out some monitoring stages of some species due to unfavourable weather conditions-climate, lack of technical documents related to the project, and so on, makes the environmental assessment to be incomplete, by altering what conclusions stemming from technical literature.

In the case of implementation of the BRUA project, there were no recorded of any kind of technical difficulties related to the assessment of impact associated with this project.