B. Random selection of respondentIntroduction

Hello. My name is _____. I am an interviewer for XXX.

We are running a survey in many European and Asian countries for the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development and the World Bank. The purpose of our survey is to understand the effects of recent economic and political changes of the lives of people like you. The results of our study will help our policymakers make policy decisions that better reflect the needs of the people.

Your household has been selected at random to participate in the survey, and I do hope you are willing to take part. The findings will not identify individuals or families and all the information obtained during the interview will be used only in the aggregated form. All information will be treated in the strictest of confidence.

B1. Could I check if this is your main residence?

Yes, main residence	1	Continue to household roster
No (second residence, holiday home, business address, other)	2	Select one code from section D and close the interview

First we would like some information about the people who usually live in your household. A household is a group of individuals who live together, put resources in common and share meals.

INTERVIEWER: List the head of household first then list all other members of the household in the order from oldest to youngest.

(8.15) Some people say that many incidents of corruption are never reported. Based on your experience, what do you think is the main reason that many people do not report incidents of corruption when they occur?

INTERVIEWER: Do not read options, code from response

Most people do report incidents of corruption	1
Because they would implicate themselves as bribe-givers	2
Corruption is too difficult to prove	3
People don't have enough time to report it	4
People don't know where to report it	5
People don't know how to report it	6
Nothing will be done/It wouldn't make a difference	7
It's too expensive to report (e.g., due to travel or phone charges)	8
Corruption is normal/Everyone does it/everyone is involved	9
People are afraid of the consequences	10
The officials where they would report to are also corrupt/officials are involved in the corruption	11
It's government's money, not the people's, so it's not our problem	12
